HOW TO USE THE ATKINS® CARB COUNTER

THE CARB COUNTER has one purpose only—to tell you the Atkins net carb count of as many foods as humanly possible. It is not a calorie counter, nor is it a comprehensive encyclopedia of food counts. You won't learn how much calcium a food has, how many grams of omega-6 fat, how much protein or how much vitamin C. All of that information is available elsewhere. What is not widely available—until now—is a way of answering the all-important question, “How many net carbs does this portion of food that I’m about to eat contain?”

Knowing that number is going to make it possible for you to do Atkins the right way, the effective way, and the way that works for you, no matter what Atkins Diet™ plan (Atkins 20® or Atkins 40®) you're on.

What's more, we based our net carb counts on realistic amounts of food—the amount of a food you're actually likely to eat! Remember, manufacturers are famous for making “serving sizes” ridiculously unrealistic in order to make their numbers look less bad. We've all seen examples of this: A single cookie you'd eat in two bites is labeled “2 servings” with “1/2 cookie” constituting one “serving”; or a small 8 ounce bottle of juice at the convenience store with a label claiming it's “2 servings”.

TOTAL CARBS (16g) - FIBER (5g) - GLYCERIN (9g) =

2g ATKINS
NET CARBS

Our net carb counts are based on the real portions of foods real people eat. If we're talking about an Atkins Bar, for example, we'll give you the net carbs in an Atkins Bar—we don't tell you that an Atkins bar is “two servings” and then give you the net carbs per “serving”.

That means you can depend on these net carb counts being reliable numbers that you can use to calculate the number of carbs you're consuming that have a significant impact on your blood sugar—so that you can stay within the parameters of the Atkins Diet. But there's one important thing to remember: we included a lot of foods in the Atkins Carb Counter that you probably will not be eating on the Atkins Diet, and probably shouldn't be eating on any diet. We put them in so you could see the carb count of different common foods, so you could compare high carb choices with lower carb choices, or, in some cases, so you could see just how high in carbs and sugar a given food really is.

Remember: Every single food listed here is not right for every phase; and some foods are not right for any phase! Choose wisely!

What to Avoid

For example, manufactured trans fats, which are hydrogenated or partially hydrogenated oils, have absolutely no place in a healthy diet. Even if you stay away from sugary treats, added sugar (under numerous aliases) turns up in bread, sauces, marinades and salad dressings, to name just a few products. Most of us get up to 40 times as much omega-6 fats as omega-3 fats in our diet because the former are used in most processed foods. Ideally, the ratio should be 1 to 1. That's why we recommend you not cook with certain oils or eat products that contain them. Specifically, steer clear of soybean, regular safflower—the high-oleic type is fine—corn and peanut oil, as well as “vegetable” oil, which can contain any of the above.

In addition to relying on the Carb Counter, it's a good idea to become a careful reader of Nutritional Facts panels on processed foods, which allow you to calculate grams of Net Carbs. Be sure to also scan the list of ingredients to make sure that hidden sugars and other problematic ingredients discussed above aren't included.
